

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the paragraph at page 17, lines 4-13, with the following rewritten paragraph:

Also, in the case of the above (2), there is a method in which the user attribute information is registered in the portable MPEG4 player or the portable viewer and the PIN code is generated according to this information (such as user name, address, age, school name, occupation, company name, section name, names of family members, for example). However, an information from which the PIN code is to be generated must have a value that can make the PIN codes on the both devices identical, such as an identical value, for example.